Product Description

The Asec A21 Mortice Release is a low-duty electric strike designed to be fitted within a door frame, working alongside a latch to allow remote unlocking as part of an access control system. It is an ideal retrofit solution for situations where there is additional play in the door, or to accommodate movement if the door drops over time.

Featuring an adjustable jaw, this mortice release offers excellent flexibility during installation and maintenance. It is available in both 12V AC and 12V DC fail-locked (fail secure) configurations, with the 12V DC version being continuously rated. Brand Profile

Asec

ASEC is a trade-focused security hardware brand built around the “everyday kit” locksmiths and installers reach for, with a big emphasis on breadth, availability, and value rather than boutique-only spec pieces. The brand was established in 2003 and was created specifically to support independent retailers and security professionals with products that “would never become available through the large multiple retailers.”

Where ASEC gets especially interesting (and why it tends to become a “default stock brand”) is the scale of the range:

- ASEC positions itself as having a portfolio of 2,000+ individual products, described as one of the largest ranges under a single security brand name in the industry.
- Coverage is intentionally broad across the core trade categories: Access Control, Architectural Hardware, Key Cutting, Locking Products, UPVC, Tools & Accessories.

ASEC is exclusive to Aldridge Security (whom we distribute) in the UK trade ecosystem (Aldridge explicitly calls itself the exclusive distributor of ASEC Security Products worldwide). That exclusivity is a big part of the brand’s identity: it keeps the range aimed at the trade channel rather than getting diluted into mass retail.
