Product Description

The Asec 'Beware of the Dog' warning sign is a compact and highly visible alert designed to notify visitors, delivery personnel, and intruders of a dog on the premises. Featuring bold white lettering on a striking red background, this sign ensures the message is clear and easy to read from a distance.

Constructed from durable PVC, the sign is built to withstand outdoor conditions, making it ideal for mounting on gates, fences, doors, or walls. It features a convenient self-adhesive backing, allowing for quick, tool-free installation on any clean, flat surface.

Brand Profile

Asec

ASEC is a trade-focused security hardware brand built around the “everyday kit” locksmiths and installers reach for, with a big emphasis on breadth, availability, and value rather than boutique-only spec pieces. The brand was established in 2003 and was created specifically to support independent retailers and security professionals with products that “would never become available through the large multiple retailers.”

Where ASEC gets especially interesting (and why it tends to become a “default stock brand”) is the scale of the range:

- ASEC positions itself as having a portfolio of 2,000+ individual products, described as one of the largest ranges under a single security brand name in the industry.
- Coverage is intentionally broad across the core trade categories: Access Control, Architectural Hardware, Key Cutting, Locking Products, UPVC, Tools & Accessories.

ASEC is exclusive to Aldridge Security (whom we distribute) in the UK trade ecosystem (Aldridge explicitly calls itself the exclusive distributor of ASEC Security Products worldwide). That exclusivity is a big part of the brand’s identity: it keeps the range aimed at the trade channel rather than getting diluted into mass retail.
