Product Description

The Asec Cupboard Lock Flat Strike Plate is a durable, solid metal strike plate designed specifically for use with Asec cupboard locks. It provides a secure and reliable latching point for cupboard and cabinet doors, helping to keep your stored items safe and secure.

Finished in an attractive satin brass, this flat strike plate blends seamlessly with both traditional and modern furniture. It features two countersunk screw holes, allowing for a flush and tidy installation that prevents any snagging on clothing or cabinet contents. This strike plate is an ideal replacement or new-installation accessory for your cabinet locking systems.

Brand Profile

Asec

ASEC is a trade-focused security hardware brand built around the “everyday kit” locksmiths and installers reach for, with a big emphasis on breadth, availability, and value rather than boutique-only spec pieces. The brand was established in 2003 and was created specifically to support independent retailers and security professionals with products that “would never become available through the large multiple retailers.”

Where ASEC gets especially interesting (and why it tends to become a “default stock brand”) is the scale of the range:

- ASEC positions itself as having a portfolio of 2,000+ individual products, described as one of the largest ranges under a single security brand name in the industry.
- Coverage is intentionally broad across the core trade categories: Access Control, Architectural Hardware, Key Cutting, Locking Products, UPVC, Tools & Accessories.

ASEC is exclusive to Aldridge Security (whom we distribute) in the UK trade ecosystem (Aldridge explicitly calls itself the exclusive distributor of ASEC Security Products worldwide). That exclusivity is a big part of the brand’s identity: it keeps the range aimed at the trade channel rather than getting diluted into mass retail.
