Product Description

The ASEC Universal Fuse Circuit Breaker Lockout is an essential safety device designed to isolate electrical circuits during maintenance, repair, or servicing. Finished in a highly visible red, this lockout device helps prevent the accidental re-energisation of machinery and equipment, safeguarding employees from hazardous energy and ensuring compliance with standard Lockout Tagout (LOTO) procedures.

Constructed to be hard-wearing yet lightweight at just 19g, this universal lockout is easy to deploy. It provides a reliable physical barrier that can be locked in place, ensuring that circuits remain safely isolated until work is complete.

Brand Profile

Asec

ASEC is a trade-focused security hardware brand built around the “everyday kit” locksmiths and installers reach for, with a big emphasis on breadth, availability, and value rather than boutique-only spec pieces. The brand was established in 2003 and was created specifically to support independent retailers and security professionals with products that “would never become available through the large multiple retailers.”

Where ASEC gets especially interesting (and why it tends to become a “default stock brand”) is the scale of the range:

- ASEC positions itself as having a portfolio of 2,000+ individual products, described as one of the largest ranges under a single security brand name in the industry.
- Coverage is intentionally broad across the core trade categories: Access Control, Architectural Hardware, Key Cutting, Locking Products, UPVC, Tools & Accessories.

ASEC is exclusive to Aldridge Security (whom we distribute) in the UK trade ecosystem (Aldridge explicitly calls itself the exclusive distributor of ASEC Security Products worldwide). That exclusivity is a big part of the brand’s identity: it keeps the range aimed at the trade channel rather than getting diluted into mass retail.
