Product Description

The Locinox Adjustable Rollerball (Rolltop) is a high-quality stainless steel rollerbolt designed to replace the standard chamfered latch tip on surface-mounted Locinox gate locks. By replacing the standard latch, it significantly reduces latch resistance, allowing your gate to close and latch smoothly and effortlessly into the keep.

This adjustable rollerball features a built-in bolt adjustment hole, allowing you to fine-tune the latch bolt length to suit your specific installation requirements. It comes complete with two screws for straightforward installation.

To accommodate different gate frame sizes, this rollerball is available in a range of lengths, weights, and manufacturer references to suit 30mm, 40mm, or 60mm gate profiles. Please choose your required profile
