Product Description

The Pemko Privacy Door Latch is a durable and reliable security accessory designed for corridor-to-interior doors in hotels, guest houses, dormitories, and residential properties. This latch allows the door to be opened slightly for guest identification while maintaining high privacy and security.

Unlike traditional flip latches or door chains, the Pemko latch cannot be used as a hold-open device, making it fully suitable for use on fire doors. This design also prevents the door from slamming against the frame, protecting both the door and the frame from damage. It features silicone pads to provide additional cushioning and surface protection.

Supplied complete with all necessary fixings, this latch is easy to install and operates smoothly. It is constructed from a robust alloy with a professional satin chrome finish, offering a modern aesthetic that blends seamlessly with contemporary door hardware.
