Product Description

The Yale 99Z Non-Deadlocking Nightlatch is a traditional-style rim lock designed for timber doors. Featuring a classic black finish case paired with a polished brass cylinder, it provides a timeless look suitable for residential properties.

This nightlatch is highly versatile, featuring an easily reversible latchbolt that makes it suitable for both left and right-handed inward-opening doors. For outward-opening doors, reverse strikes are available separately. The internal snib function offers added convenience, allowing you to either hold the latch back in the open position or deadlock the latchbolt from the inside.

Brand Profile

Yale

Yale is one of the most recognisable names in locks and home security — the kind of brand that's become so default it's basically a synonym for "lock" in a lot of people's heads. The story starts with Linus Yale and the invention/development of the pin-tumbler concept that underpins a huge chunk of modern lock design, then scales into mass manufacturing and global distribution through the industrial era.

Today, Yale sits in an interesting split-brain reality:

- Outside the US & Canada, Yale is an ASSA ABLOY brand, and Yale's own regional "About" pages explicitly state the brand was purchased by ASSA ABLOY in August 2000.
- In the US & Canada, the Yale and August brands were sold off as part of antitrust remedies tied to ASSA ABLOY's Spectrum acquisition; Reuters and The Verge both describe Yale being retained by ASSA ABLOY outside North America, while the US/Canada Yale brand moved to Fortune Brands Innovations.

Product-wise, Yale spans the whole spectrum from classic mechanical cylinders and door hardware through to smart locks and connected access under the Yale Home umbrella. A key modern milestone was ASSA ABLOY's acquisition of August Home (completed in December 2017), which fed into the broader "smart access" push around app-based entry and connected ecosystems.
