Product Description

The Yale YTP3 TSA Soft Shackle Combination Padlock is a versatile and secure travel padlock, perfect for securing suitcases, backpacks, and other luggage. Featuring a robust zinc body and a flexible 65mm vinyl-coated steel wire shackle, this padlock is designed to easily thread through and secure multiple zips or awkwardly shaped closures.

As a TSA-recognised (Travel Sentry Approved) lock, it allows airport security personnel to inspect your baggage without causing damage to the padlock or your luggage. The user-friendly 3-digit combination mechanism is fully resettable, offering keyless convenience and peace of mind during your travels.

Brand Profile

Yale

Yale is one of the most recognisable names in locks and home security — the kind of brand that's become so default it's basically a synonym for "lock" in a lot of people's heads. The story starts with Linus Yale and the invention/development of the pin-tumbler concept that underpins a huge chunk of modern lock design, then scales into mass manufacturing and global distribution through the industrial era.

Today, Yale sits in an interesting split-brain reality:

- Outside the US & Canada, Yale is an ASSA ABLOY brand, and Yale's own regional "About" pages explicitly state the brand was purchased by ASSA ABLOY in August 2000.
- In the US & Canada, the Yale and August brands were sold off as part of antitrust remedies tied to ASSA ABLOY's Spectrum acquisition; Reuters and The Verge both describe Yale being retained by ASSA ABLOY outside North America, while the US/Canada Yale brand moved to Fortune Brands Innovations.

Product-wise, Yale spans the whole spectrum from classic mechanical cylinders and door hardware through to smart locks and connected access under the Yale Home umbrella. A key modern milestone was ASSA ABLOY's acquisition of August Home (completed in December 2017), which fed into the broader "smart access" push around app-based entry and connected ecosystems.
