Product Description

The ABUS 65 Series Brass Closed Shackle Padlock (65CS) offers dependable, mid-level security with an integrated shackle guard to protect against physical attacks. Part of the best-selling ABUS 65 range, this padlock features a solid brass body that delivers excellent durability and corrosion resistance, making it suitable for a variety of domestic and commercial security applications.

At the core of its design is a through-hardened steel alloy shackle, shielded by the closed shackle body to resist cutting and cropping attempts. The internal mechanism features a precision pin tumbler cylinder equipped with anti-pick mushroom pins, providing enhanced protection against manipulation. Additionally, the double-bolted locking mechanism ensures superior shackle strength and pull resistance.

This padlock is available in multiple sizes to suit your specific requirements. Please choose from the options below to select your preferred body width, shackle diameter, and clearance dimensions.

Brand Profile

Abus

Security Tech Germany

ABUS (short for August Bremicker Söhne) is a German, family-owned security company best known for making locks and “preventative” security products—the stuff designed to stop problems before they happen. The company was founded in 1924, when August Bremicker and his sons started making padlocks in a cellar forge in Volmarstein (North Rhine-Westphalia). One of the earliest products was a padlock they called “Iron Rock,” and the business expanded from there into a broad security portfolio.

Today, ABUS’s headquarters are in Wetter (Ruhr), Germany, and the company manufactures across multiple German and international sites (with major German production called out in places like Rehe).

ABUS operates as a group with well-known consumer lines spanning padlocks and door/window security, alarm systems and video surveillance, and also bike security—notably bike locks and bike helmets (a big reason you’ll see the brand everywhere from hardware stores to cycling shops).

Brand-wise, ABUS leans hard into the “German engineering, don’t mess about” identity: practical, durability-obsessed, and aimed at homes, businesses, and people trying to stop their stuff being yeeted into the void by opportunistic goblins.
