Product Description

The Squire Vulcan Open Boron Shackle Combination Padlock offers outstanding, key-free security from premium British lock manufacturer Henry Squire & Sons. Engineered to withstand harsh environments and physical attacks, these heavy-duty padlocks feature a robust diecast alloy body and a hardened boron alloy steel shackle.

Operating via a double-locking combination mechanism, they eliminate the hassle of managing keys while maintaining high-level security. Each padlock is fully recodable, allowing you to easily set and reset your own code. Depending on the model selected, they feature either a 4-wheel mechanism (offering 10,000 combinations) or a 5-wheel mechanism (offering 100,000 combinations). For added convenience, they are designed with a soft-feel, dual-compound body cover and a push-to-open button at the bottom for effortless, one-handed operation.

These padlocks are available in a variety of body widths (ranging from 40mm to 60mm), body depths (from 22mm to 33mm), shackle diameters (from 6mm to 10mm), and clearances. ## Brand Profile

Squire

Squire (formally Henry Squire & Sons Ltd) is one of the UK’s oldest lockmakers — a heritage brand best known for serious padlocks and chain security, especially in the motorcycle, commercial, and site-security world. Squire’s own history traces the business back to 1780, when William Squire began making locks in Willenhall (the Black Country’s lockmaking capital). They even supplied locks to the British Army during the Napoleonic Wars, which is a wildly specific flex that basically translates to: “we’ve been thinking about forced entry since muskets were a performance upgrade.”

Operationally, the trading entity behind the brand is Henry Squire & Sons Limited.

What Squire is known for

Squire’s modern identity is anchored in high-security padlocks and matching hardened chains / accessories, with the flagship line being Stronghold®. Their own “About” page calls out products like the Stronghold SS100cs as an ultra-high-security production padlock (Squire describe it as the world’s strongest production padlock — not subtle, but neither is a 1kg lump of hardened steel).

A good example of how the brand positions itself in real-world standards:

- The Squire SS65CS Stronghold is independently listed by Sold Secure with CEN Grade 6 and a Powered Cycle Gold rating, alongside features like hardened components and weather resistance.
