Product Description

The Yale Y110B Brass Open Shackle Padlock is a reliable, general-purpose security solution designed primarily for indoor use. Perfect for securing lockers, toolboxes, and other personal belongings, this padlock combines a solid brass body with a durable steel shackle to offer dependable everyday protection.

For added convenience, this padlock features snap locking, allowing you to secure the shackle without needing the key in the lock. It is supplied with three keys for unlocking.

This padlock is available in a range of body widths from 20mm to 60mm, and can be purchased in pack quantities of 1, 2, or 4. Please choose your preferred body width, pack quantity, and weight (ranging from 45g up to 1.1kg) from the options below. Multi-packs are keyed alike, meaning the same key will open all padlocks in the pack for ultimate convenience.

Brand Profile

Yale

Yale is one of the most recognisable names in locks and home security — the kind of brand that’s become so default it’s basically a synonym for “lock” in a lot of people’s heads. The story starts with Linus Yale and the invention/development of the pin-tumbler concept that underpins a huge chunk of modern lock design, then scales into mass manufacturing and global distribution through the industrial era.

Today, Yale sits in an interesting split-brain reality:

- Outside the US & Canada, Yale is an ASSA ABLOY brand, and Yale’s own regional “About” pages explicitly state the brand was purchased by ASSA ABLOY in August 2000.
- In the US & Canada, the Yale and August brands were sold off as part of antitrust remedies tied to ASSA ABLOY’s Spectrum acquisition; Reuters and The Verge both describe Yale being retained by ASSA ABLOY outside North America, while the US/Canada Yale brand moved to Fortune Brands Innovations.

Product-wise, Yale spans the whole spectrum from classic mechanical cylinders and door hardware through to smart locks and connected access under the Yale Home umbrella. A key modern milestone was ASSA ABLOY’s acquisition of August Home (completed in December 2017), which fed into the broader “smart access” push around app-based entry and connected ecosystems.
