Product Description

The Yale Y113BL Series Cast Iron Shutter Padlock is a heavy-duty security solution designed to protect shutters, gates, and garden sheds. Featuring a robust cast iron body with a sleek black finish, this padlock is built to withstand outdoor conditions.

A key feature of this padlock is its key-retaining design, which ensures the key remains trapped in the cylinder while the lock is open, preventing you from accidentally leaving it unlocked. The hardened steel shackle offers excellent resistance against cutting and sawing attacks. Rigorously tested to 10,000 opening and closing cycles, this padlock delivers long-lasting reliability and performance.

This padlock is available in multiple sizes and configurations, with body widths of 75mm or 90mm, and varying shackle clearances to suit your specific security needs. Please select your preferred size and specification from the options below.

Brand Profile

Yale

Yale is one of the most recognisable names in locks and home security — the kind of brand that's become so default it's basically a synonym for "lock" in a lot of people's heads. The story starts with Linus Yale and the invention/development of the pin-tumbler concept that underpins a huge chunk of modern lock design, then scales into mass manufacturing and global distribution through the industrial era.

Today, Yale sits in an interesting split-brain reality:

- Outside the US & Canada, Yale is an ASSA ABLOY brand, and Yale's own regional "About" pages explicitly state the brand was purchased by ASSA ABLOY in August 2000.
- In the US & Canada, the Yale and August brands were sold off as part of antitrust remedies tied to ASSA ABLOY's Spectrum acquisition; Reuters and The Verge both describe Yale being retained by ASSA ABLOY outside North America, while the US/Canada Yale brand moved to Fortune Brands Innovations.

Product-wise, Yale spans the whole spectrum from classic mechanical cylinders and door hardware through to smart locks and connected access under the Yale Home umbrella. A key modern milestone was ASSA ABLOY's acquisition of August Home (completed in December 2017), which fed into the broader "smart access" push around app-based entry and connected ecosystems.
